Easter Sunday of the Resurrection of the Lord / Domingo de Pascua
April 21, 2019 / April 21, 2019

Empty Tomb, Expectant Heart

Introductory Prayer: Lord, you are the source of all life because you are life itself. Your resurrection gives me the hope of being raised from the dead to rejoice with you forever in heaven. Thank you for your presence in my life. I love you, and I want to follow after you with all my heart. Be with me now, and inspire my prayer.

1. Confusing Signs: Without faith, realities that should inspire hope and expectation only confuse. Jesus' empty tomb is the sign of the complete victory, the most extreme love, and the most powerful presence. Mary Magdalene, Peter, and John all see the empty tomb. But their limited faith needs time to grow and completely accept the great gift that is offered to them. In approaching the mystery of God, I must stoke up my faith. Otherwise, what should cause hope and courage will only wind up becoming a stumbling block for me. Only a sincere and generous faith in Christ enables me to take the circumstances of life in hope, confidence, and security.

2. Running to the Experience of Faith: Running is an integral part of this Gospel. Mary Magdalene runs. Peter runs, and John outruns Peter. Love for the Lord creates a sense of urgency. What they saw at the tomb could have been seen without running at all. But promptness is a sign of love for the Lord. If I wish to experience Christ and the power of his resurrection, I need to have a sense of urgency in my relationship with the Lord. I must strive to meet him and give myself to him in my here and now. I can't wait for the "ideal" moment. If I don't give myself to Christ now, under the present conditions, there is no reason to think I ever will.

3. Faith Begins with the Experience of the Senses, but Does Not End There: John, Peter and Mary Magdalene will eventually have an unshakeable conviction in the Resurrection and become messengers of the Resurrection. But they first need to see the empty tomb and pick up the wrappings. They would also need to see and touch the risen Christ. All this would cause wonderment, reflection, and eventually a growing realization that would induce faith. God works in the same way in my life. First, there are the lived experiences of my life: people I meet, circumstances I face, events that occur... Then my wonderment and reflection on what it all means; Then the slow dawning of faith.

"It is clearly evident that Christ's resurrection is the greatest Event in the history of salvation, and indeed, we can say in the history of humanity, since it gives definitive meaning to the world. The whole world revolves around the Cross, but only in the resurrection does the Cross reach its full significance of a salvific Event. The Cross and Resurrection constitute the one paschal mystery in which the history of the world is centered. Therefore Easter is the Church's greatest Solemnity. Every year she celebrates and renews this Event, fraught with all the prophecies of the Old Testament, beginning with the "Protoevangelium" of the Redemption, and of all the eschatological hopes and expectations projected towards the "fullness of time", which was realized when the Kingdom of God definitively entered human history and the universal order of salvation" (John Paul II, General Audience, March 1, 1989).

Conversation with Christ: Lord Jesus, you know how to prepare your disciples to experience your presence deeply and know you intimately. I ask today for a deepening of my faith in your resurrection. Let all the events of my life point me to the truth that you are alive.

Resolution: I will be prompt in meeting the duties and responsibilities of today, in the truth of the risen Christ.

Tumba Vacía, Corazón Expectante

Oración introductoria: Señor, tú eres la fuente de toda vida porque eres la vida misma. Tu resurrección me da la esperanza de resucitar de entre los muertos para regocijarte contigo para siempre en el cielo. Gracias por tu presencia en mi vida. Te amo, y quiero seguirte con todo mi corazón. Acompáñame ahora e inspira mi oración.

Señales confusas: sin fe, las realidades que deberían inspirar esperanza y expectativa solo confunden. La tumba vacía de Jesús es el signo de la victoria completa, el amor más extremo y la presencia más poderosa. María Magdalena, Pedro y Juan ven la tumba vacía. Pero su fe limitada necesita tiempo para crecer y aceptar completamente el gran regalo que se les ofrece. Al acercarme al misterio de Dios, debo avivar mi fe. De lo contrario, lo que debería causar esperanza y coraje solo terminará convirtiéndose en un obstáculo para mí. Solo una fe sincera y generosa en Cristo me permite tomar las circunstancias de la vida con esperanza, confianza y seguridad.

2. Correr hacia la experiencia de la fe: correr es una parte integral de este Evangelio. Mary Magdalene corre. Peter corre y John deja atrás a Peter. El amor por el Señor crea un sentido de urgencia. Lo que vieron en la tumba se pudo haber visto sin correr en absoluto. Pero la prontitud es un signo de amor por el Señor. Si deseo experimentar a Cristo y el poder de su resurrección, necesito tener un sentido de urgencia en mi relación con el Señor. Debo esforzarme por encontrarlo y entregarme a él en mi aquí y ahora. No puedo esperar el momento "ideal". Si no me entrego a Cristo ahora, bajo las condiciones actuales, no hay razón para pensar que alguna vez lo haré.

3. La fe comienza con la experiencia de los sentidos, pero no termina allí: Juan, Pedro y María Magdalena eventualmente tendrán una convicción inquebrantable en la resurrección y se convertirán en mensajeros de la Resurrección. Pero primero necesitan ver la tumba vacía y recoger las envolturas. También necesitarían ver y tocar a Cristo resucitado. Todo esto causaría asombro, reflexión y, finalmente, una comprensión creciente que induciría la fe. Dios trabaja de la misma manera en mi vida. Primero, están las experiencias vividas de mi vida: personas que conozco, circunstancias que enfrento, eventos que ocurren... Entonces mi asombro y mi reflexión sobre lo que significa todo; Luego el lento amanecer de la fe.

"Es claramente evidente que la resurrección de Cristo es el mayor evento en la historia de la salvación, y de hecho, podemos decir en la historia de la humanidad, ya que le da un significado definitivo al mundo. El mundo entero gira alrededor de la Cruz, pero solo en la resurrección la Cruz alcanza su significado completo de Evento salvador. La Cruz y la Resurrección constituyen el único misterio pascual en el que se centra la historia del mundo. Por lo tanto, la Pascua es la mayor solemnidad de la Iglesia. Cada año ella celebra y renueva este evento, lleno de todas las profecías del Antiguo Testamento, comenzando con el "Protoevangelium" de la Redención, y de todas las esperanzas y expectativas escatológicas proyectadas hacia la "plenitud del tiempo", que se realizó cuando el Reino de Dios entró definitivamente en la historia de la humanidad y en el orden universal de salvación "(Juan Pablo II, Audiencia general, 1 de marzo de 1989).

Conversación con Cristo: Señor Jesús, sabes cómo preparar a tus discípulos para que experimenten tu presencia profundamente y te conozcan íntimamente. Pido hoy una profundización de mi fe en su resurrección. Deja que todos los eventos de mi vida me indiquen la verdad de que estás vivo.

Resolución: seré pronto en cumplir con los deberes y responsabilidades de hoy en la verdad de Cristo resucitado.
